THREE SOPHS, ONE JUNIOR IN COTTLE CONTEST

Four Orators Entered In Traditional Contest

Finals of the traditional Cottle Oratorical Contest will be held in the De La Salle Lounge on the evening of Thursday, April 29. The student winning the contest will receive the gold Cottle Medal at Commencement on Sunday, May 16.

Those participating in the contest are William Glackin, '39, Edward La Berge '38, James McHugh '39 and Daniel O'Hara '39. The order of speaking will be determined by lot. The contestants have entire freedom in their choice of subject matter for their orations. The only requirements are that the essay be written by the student and must not have been used in a previous contest. All the speakers with the exception of Bill Glackin have yet to announce the subjects of their speeches. The tentative title for Glackin's speech is "The Catholic Position on Evolution."

The general public as well as faculty members and students, are invited to witness the contest. The program will be finished in ample time to allow visitors to get the 9:30 westbound train.

The Cottle Medal for oratory was founded by the Rev. John E. Cottle of the class of '77. It is one of the oldest of contests at the college, having been run annually for almost forty years.

The present senior class has had a monopoly of the award for the last three years. Joe Alioto, student body prexy winning it in 1934, Ed Nevin, in 1935, and Bill Simon, in 1936. It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the contest due to the increased interest in debating this year.

Annual Dinner For Senior Class Will Be Held On May 13

Accepted as one of the traditions of the alumni association, the annual dinner welcoming the graduating class into the ranks of the alumni will be held in San Francisco on Thursday evening, May 13.

This year, as in the past, the graduates of fifty years ago will act as hosts to the present graduating group. Welcoming the class of 1937 into the ranks of those who have completed their four years at Saint Mary's will be the members of the class of '87.

Graduates To Invite Seniors

Members of the 1937 group will receive individual invitations from various alumni members, and will be the guest of the particular alumnae extending the invitation.

J. T. Davis, compiler of the alumni notes, says in his column, "It

All Catholic High Schools In State Invited to Campus Press Convention on May 8

High School Journalists To Be Guests at Conference Sponsored by Collegian and Gael; Brother Leo To Address Delegates

All Catholic high schools in the state having been contacted, the staffs of the Collegian and Gael, co-sponsors of the press convention to be held here on Saturday, May 8, are now completing arrangements for the journalistic conference.

An annual event, the convention was not held last year because of a conflict in dates. Formerly sponsored by the now defunct Press Club, the convention will be controlled by the Collegian and Gael.

Lunch For Delegates

Featured speakers of the day will be Brother Leo of the faculty, Willis O'Brien and Maureen O'Brien of the San Francisco Chronicle, and one sports writer and one news writer of the bay area.

Delegates to the convention will arrive here aboard the 11:40 train and will be escorted to the reception rooms in the administration building where they will register.

At the conclusion of the registration proceedings the visitors will be served lunch in the college dining hall. Following the meal, an address will be given by Brother Leo.

In the early part of the afternoon the delegates will be taken on a brief tour of the campus, followed by various discussions on newspaper topics.

Round table seminars on the different phases of newspaper work will be conducted by the heads of the editorial staffs of the Gael and Collegian. Those leading the round table groups will be Bill Bettencourt, Elias Welch, and Wyman Riley.

Editors Speak

Bettencourt, Collegian sports editor, will address all the sports writers, pointing out the features of that type of writing. Welch, former editor of the Collegian, will discuss the editorial and news duties, while Wyman Riley, present Collegian editor, will handle the make-up end of the seminar.

Forty Hours Will Be Observed

Devotions To Be Held In The Chapel On April 28-30

The Forty Hours Devotion will be held in the Chapel on April 28th 29th and 30th, it was announced by Father Bowling, student chaplain.

Following the opening High Mass, the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed for adoration from Wednesday through Friday morning. The Devotions will close with a solemn procession in the Chapel, Friday at 11 o'clock.

Purpose of Devotions Explained

The Forty Hours Devotions, Father Bowling explained, is a devotion intended as a public act of Thanksgiving for the Blessed Sacrament as also one of reparation.

The Church has decreed that in every diocese throughout the world there be a cycle of adoration in which all the faithful may participate. In this archdiocese, every week in one or more churches and chapels, the Blessed Sacrament is exposed for approximately forty hours.

Stressing the spiritual values attached to the attending of the Forty Hours services Father Bowling stated that he hoped to see large attendance at the various exercises.

Schedule of Devotions Announced

The Solemn Devotions will open Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock with High Mass in the Chapel which will be followed by private adoration of students during the day. Benediction and confessions will be held at 6:30 p.m.

On Thursday Low Mass will be

Gael To Appear On Campus Soon

Yearbook Sent To Printer As Work Is Completed

"The 1937 Gael is now completed. Nothing remains to be done on the book except printing and binding." —thus Lawrence Mana, editor of the yearbook, in a statement to the Collegian this week.

Printing of the book was started last Monday at the shop of James J. Gillick, one of the larger printing establishments of Oakland, and the book is expected to go to the binder today or tomorrow.

The past two weeks have been marked by intensive efforts on the part of Mana and Wyman Riley, assistant editor, to get the book out on the scheduled date, May 1. With all copy in, the remaining task of correcting proof and supervising page setting was completed this week.

John Sullivan, newly chosen editor of next year's yearbook, accompanied Mana to the shop this week in order to gain experience for the editing of the 1938 Gael.

Financial success of the book is, according to Mana, completely assured, with the amount of advertising received far exceeding expectations, the number of buyers was expected to take a definite rise this week with the publication date only a week away.

Economic Association Elects New Officers

Meeting last Friday for their annual election of officers, members of the Economics Association selected Bob Moran as president, James Brady, vice president, and Algeo Brill, secretary-treasurer.

In a heated presidential race, Moran nosed out his nearest rival, Jim Walsh, by but one vote.

Other contenders for Association offices were Robert Moore, president; Earl Fleming and Joseph Donnelly, vice president, and Lynn Hull, secretary-treasurer.

Ex-Council Meeting To Be Held This Noon

With many members of the executive council absent on account of the senior retreat, the regular meeting of that body was postponed from Wednesday until 12:30 today. Matters to be discussed when the group meets today will be of a routine nature. The meeting will be marked by the return of student body president Joe Alioto to an active part in student affairs.

Election Fever Grips Campus; Irish Drop Veil

"Senator" Smythe Named As Choice Of Irish Machine; Bourne, Mana, Confident

JAMES BRADY, '40

With nominations coming up on Wednesday, April 28, political activity reached a new high this week.

Presenting a formidable aspect as one of the most powerful political factions ever seen on the campus, the Irish party yesterday revealed its choices for the student body offices, and its platform.

The nominees: Ted Smyth, president; Jack Reilley, vice-president; Joe Crosby, secretary; and John McIntyre, treasurer.

The platform, to be known as the Five Points: 1. More social activity. 2. Maintaining a better standard of food. 3. Procuring speakers for lounge. 4. More intramural activities. 5. A HUGE celebration on Saint Patrick's Day.

It is rumored that a portion of the Google Terriers have transferred their alliance to the Hibernians, chiefly because of point Number Two.

Bourne To Begin

Candidate Bill Bourne, who has been in Los Angeles with the Phoenix, has had little opportunity to rally his forces around the Bourne banner, but it is expected that he will devote the next week to building up his campaign.

Gael - Editor

Conservatives have not relinquished their position, and are still firmly entrenched behind Lawrence Mana, who is going into the elections without a statement of policy or platform. The 1937 Gael editor prefers not to talk, except that he admits to conservative policies, as opposed to the radical policies of Bourne and the Irish. To this Bourne says, "Not radical, just progressive." The latter is the only

BOND SITUATION EXPLAINED FOR STUDENT BODY

Saint Mary's College will definitely continue in Moraga Valley, students were assured by a statement issued by the committe representing the college in the bond situation early this week.

Negotiations in the college bond situation have reached a point from which either complete agreement or disagreement will follow shortly, according to the statement issued by Mr. William J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the board in charge of negotions.

"It is felt," Fitzgerald stated, "that the steps required by law, preliminary to a sale, should be taken now because a sale of properties will be as necessary if an agreement is reached as if one is not reached."

The only way in which a title to the property may be cleared is through a sale, and without it no agreement could be carried out, it was stated. The negotiations for an adjustment of the bonded indebtedness will continue, and it is generally believed that a satisfactory agreement will soon be reached, according to Fitzgerald.

These negotiations are merely a matter of procedure. No matter what is done, Fitzgerald stated, there must be a foreclosure and a sale in order to give the successful buyers a clear title. The trustee will have to conduct a sale to effect a transfer of title.

As far as is known at this time, there will be no changes in the present administration of the college in any department.

Office of the President

All announcements placed upon the bulletin boards of either Dante or Galileo Hall must bear the stamp of the Recorder's Office. Notices not so approved and stamped will not be allowed on the bulletin boards.

BROTHER ALBERT,
President of the College.

Senior Class Will Hold Annual Ball Tomorrow Eve at San Francisco Hotel

Largest Crowd In History Of Event Is Expected At Affair

Tomorrow night the class of '37 will make its last effort to vindicate the reputation it has gained for being the outstanding social group to enter Saint Mary's in recent years, when they band together to hold the Senior Ball at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francisco.

President Bill Simon is well pleased with the sale of bids up to the present time and estimates that at least 125 couples will attend. This is expected to be the largest crowd ever to attend a Saint Mary's Senior Ball.

Floor Show

Preparations are now being made to include a floor show as part of the evening's entertainment, and although nothing definite will be known until Thursday, it is highly probable that these plans will meet with success.

"The favors will be something new and different." stated Al Shine, "and we are convinced that each person attending will find that the dance will live up to all expectations as being not one of the best, but the best dance given by any Saint Mary's class."

Dancing 10 - 2 A. M.

Dancing will commence at 10 o'clock and will continue until 2:00 a. m. This change in time will enable the students and their guests sufficient time to be there for the start of the dance. In the past there has always arisen the argument that by the time the student leaves the college, gets his friends and drives to San Francisco that the dance is almost at an end. It is the effort of those graduating to eliminate all difficulties such as these.

Reserved Tables

Traditions of the past have been cast aside in that the dance will commence at 10 p. m. and continue until 2 a. m., the introduction of the "table dance" will also lend something new and different to this dance, and lastly the dance will be held on Saturday night. All these changes tend to make this year's dance not just another Senior Ball, but The Senior Ball.

Music By Grill

Music will be furnished by Joaquin Grill and his orchestra which has the reputation of being one of the most popular dance bands in Northern California.

Final Issue Of Brick Pile Due

Last Issue Of Publication To Appear In May

The year's last issue of the Brick Pile, a number dedicated to the Senior Class and Commencement, will appear on the campus the first week in May, it was announced this week by Bob Mark, newly-elected editor-in-chief.

The initial issue edited by the new staff headed by Bob Mark and James McHugh, besides being a dedication number in honor of the class of 1937, will contain several unique features of a type not before used in the student publication. Cuts and sketches will be introduced into the issue to make it more attractive to the reader, and to break the monotony of solidly printed pages. All headings will depart from the customary block form, and be written in a step-form arrangement, adding to the appearance of the general make-up.

Brother Leo Will Write

In keeping with the dedication, the number will attempt to present to the readers an all-Senior staff of contributors. Brother Leo has consented to write the dedication essay in honor of the graduating men.

Cooperation from the student body is urged by the new editor, who assured them the Brickpile will far surpass any of its predecessors.

English Students To Take Comprehensive

Twelve students will take the English Comprehensive Examination on Monday, April 26. This is the first time that Comprehensive examinations have been given at Saint Mary's College. The examination will be under the direction of Brother Virgil, head of the English Department.

The comprehensive will be divided into two three-hour examinations, covering English literature from the time of Chaucer through modern writers.

Last year majors in English were required to write theses as requisites for graduation. This year's innovation in the department will take the place of the usual theses.

The students extend their sincerest sympathies to John Williams upon the death of his sister.

Mills Debaters To Appear Here

Locals To Meet Visitors On Wednesday, April 28

The Mills College debate, originally scheduled for April 2, then for April 6, up to the 13th and once more to last Wednesday night has once again been postponed, this time to Wednesday, April 28. The first four postponements came from the Mills College Authorities; this one, however, was deemed necessary by the local debate office, inasmuch as there is a shortage of debaters on the campus this week, due to the senior retreat.

Next week's debate is definite, however, with the East Bay Women's college, on the topic, RESOLVED: That the Girl should pay 50 per cent of the expenses of the date. St. Mary's will uphold the negative of the question. The local team has not as yet been chosen. The Mills debaters will be Marjory Kennedy and Margery Anne Hale.

In last week's Collegian, it was stated that the forensic season would end with a radio debate with the University of San Francisco. This latter-mentioned debate did not materialize because of the recent innovation of a new program over the Don Lee network. However, during the past week there have been requests from Stanford University and Santa Clara for both freshman and varsity forensic encounters. Therefore, it has been deemed advisable to draw up a short post-season schedule to handle these proposed meets. The first debate on this new schedule will

Clean-Up And President's Day Program Monday

Professor Loosely To Act As Chairman For Day

That day is here again! Saint Mary's will celebrate its annual Clean-Up Day in combination with President's Day next Monday, the twenty-sixth.

Activities will begin at 9:00 a.m. when all students are requested to report to their various religion and ethics classes, from which they will be distributed to different locations on the campus which most need their consideration and efforts.

President's Dinner

The work will continue under the supervision of the instructors of the religion classes until noon. Lunch will then be served in the college dining hall with all members of the faculty, the student brothers, and the students, the guests of Brother Albert, president of the college. Chairman of the dinner will be Dr. Allyn C. Loosely, Dean of Economics, who will introduce Brother Albert and a member of the faculty of the University of California as principal speakers.

The athletic events, previously scheduled to take place in the afternoon, may be cancelled. Definite announcement will be made at the lunch.

Work Arranged

In order that the work progress efficiently, blue prints of the campus have been drawn up by landscape engineer, Von Wetter, to be displayed on the bulletin boards Friday, making it possible for the laborers to know in advance which

Nine Seniors to Win Graduation Honors

In contrast to the small number who graduated with honors last year, the class of 1937 will have nine of its members honored at the graduation ceremonies on Sunday, May 16.

Those graduating Maxima Cum Laude according to the Office of the Recorder, are Frank Martin, school of Arts and Letters, Frank Salmon, Economics and Finance, Rodney Stetson, science, and Brother Victor Lucius, Economics and Finance. Graduating Magna Cum Laude are Joseph Lawrence Alioto, school of Arts and Letters, and Victor Strub, Arts and Letters.

Completing the list of honor students, those graduating Cum Laude are: Samuel Miller, school of Arts and Letters, and Carl Schuck, Economics and Finance.

All honor students will be exempt from the final examinations.

Sit-Down Strikes Opposed By Local Labor Authority

Summing up the statements made by Monsignor Ryan in various articles on the sit-down strike problem, Brother Alfred, faculty labor authority, pointed out that Father Ryan, was definitely against the use of the sit-down strike.

Brother Alfred

In discussing the morality of sit-down strikes Brother Alfred said that the question was far from simple—and none too clear cut. In order to make the answer as lucid as possible he offered a few words about strikes in general.

Brother Alfred stated, "Fundamentally a strike is an organized cessation of work for the purpose of meeting some injustice, the workers having the intention of retaining their jobs. The conditions for a just strike are stated by Ross:

1. It is called on account of a just grievance, with no malicious intent. 2. Peaceful methods of arbitration must have failed, and no other solution be found possible. 3. It must not involve violence or destruction of property. 4. The benefits resulting from it must exceed the damage caused. 5. There must be a reasonable hope of success, or at least of ultimate advantage to the worker.

The morality of the sit-down strike, as such, is related to the third of these conditions, for certainly, a sit-down strike does involve violence, being the forceful taking possession of another's property.

Many Expected On Campus For Saint Mary's Club Day

Plans this week were completed for the annual St. Mary's Club Day to be held here on Sunday, April 25, It is expected that the largest crowd ever to visit the campus will be on hand to see the 1937 Gael football team in action.

Members of the club, their families and friends of Saint Mary's will arrive upon the campus in automobiles and by special trains being operated to the college from San Francisco and Oakland.

The day will be opened with Holy Mass, celebrated in the College Chapel at 10:00 a. m. The rest of the day will be filled with interesting athletic events such as the soft-ball game between members of the club, to be played on the football field commencing at 10:30 a.m.

The outdoor picnic in beautiful Justin Grove will take place at 11:30 a.m. Guests are reminded that lunch will not be served in the dining hall. Those wishing to picnic in the grove are asked to bring their own baskets of food. The Co-op will serve sandwiches, coffee, pie, etc.

At 1:00 p. m. guests will be able to witness a "picnic special for the guests." This will include, (1) Three legged race, a sack race and potato race.

Commencing at 2:00 p. m. varsity football men will show their speed in the linemen 50 yard dash, in which Scotty McPhail and Ralph Jack are favorites, the backfield men 50 yard dash, in which we find Ned O'Laughlin and Dante Magnini favored. Next in line is a relay race by the backfield men and line men.

The closing event of the day will find the Red and Blue teams mixing it up for the championship of the Moraga Valley. The former will be coached by Red Strader and the latter by Eddie Erdelatz.

The game this year will be the second anniversary of inter-squad competition on St. Mary's Club Day. As has been the custom, this game will mark the end of spring football practice.

Official referees will handle the game; making their appearance are Dutch Conlon, Tommy Fitzpatrick, Paul Hungerford and Bill Fischer.

The members of the St. Mary's Club extend a cordial invitation to all those who wish to see the 1937 Gaels in action, to be present on Sunday, April 25.

BARSOTTI TO PLAY PROFESSIONAL BALL

Gael Gossip

by Bill Bettencourt

(Sports Editor The Collegian)

THERE will be no intramural boxing this semester, "lack of enthusiasm" being given as the reason for the cancellation of the proposed campus bouts, which event at one time was an annual sporting highlight on the Gael minor sports calendar.

We admit there was not too much interest manifested when it was first announced that plans were being made to hold the bouts this year. But it is also true that no endeavor whatsoever was made to drum up interest or enthusiasm for the program.

We're certain that if a little work had been done towards this end, cooperation would have been received from all points, and this semester's show would have been one of the finest ever presented on the Moraga campus.

On second thought, "Lack of enthusiasm" probably is a good reason—"lack of enthusiasm—— on the part of those whose duty it is to promote such affairs.

Well, the Boys Won Five Out of Eight

Earl Sheely's nine didn't do too badly while playing ball in Los Angeles and San Diego, winning five out of eight games played. They began their invasion of the South in an all right way, drubbing the Loyola Lions. But Mighty Joe Gonzales put the brakes on the Moragans.

Entering the first U. S. C. game with a fear of the sensational Trojan twirler, the Gaels not only were unable to score in the early stages of the tilt, but they slackened on defense immediately, giving Troy eight runs in the first.

It is our guess that if U. S. C. had been halted in the initial frame, Gonzales would have sustained his first defeat instead of chalking up his 18th consecutive triumph. Because Saint Mary's finally touched the Spaniard's soft part and smashed him for 16 hits.

Sixteen safeties—that's a record which no college or semi-pro team has come any where near tying with Gonzales in the hurler's box.

If you saw any of the Bear-Gael games, you then understand how our team proceeded to lose one more to U. S. C. and one to U. C. L. A. before copping four-straight from the Uclans and the Marines.

Marty Krug's charges were unable to cope with the fire and determination of the Gaels in Friday's double-header. Ditto for the Marines. And the Gaels won in no uncertain terms. True, the Service nine gave the locals a bad time, but, who won?

Inter-Class Big Meet Next Friday

We are anxiously looking forward to the inter-class Big Meet on the James Smith oval next Friday afternoon. After Monday's clean-up day, the oval ought to be in pretty fair running condition for next week's cinder clash.

Because of the initiative on the parts of a few, including Jimmy Underhill, enthusiasm for the past month has been running high. This 1937 meet, we think, will be a bigger success than many thought at first.

Many of the tracksters have been working out daily for more than four weeks, while others have been practicing under Underhill for the last 14 days. All of which means that there is plenty of honest-to-goodness interest in next Friday's events.

Wanted: One Capable Gael Boatman

Understand Saint Mary's lacks one boatman in order to compete with California and Stanford this summer in the Northern California Intercollegiate Bird Boat Meet on the San Francisco Bay.

Whoever you are, and wherever you are, come on out; quit hiding. If you're any kind of a boatman, speak either to Alan Clarke or Charlie Carroll.

Clarke and Carroll are prepared and are organizing their crews. But, since each of the three colleges must have three boats in the water for the big race, Saint Mary's still lacks one.

Now, how about it? Are you going to quit hiding and come out, or must we go after you?

Here's a Bouquet for Dick Schuman

Although your Gossiper seldom distributes bouquets to anyone, he wishes to give one today to Dick Schuman.

Schuman is the lad who has worked virtually day and night with the Gael tennis team, and he finally has brought the Saint Mary's squad from the lowly bottom position of the conference ladder to third place.

A typical Gael team with the true Gael "fight," the net group deserves the hearty commendations of all Saint Mary's fans and students.

Marines Are Genial Men and Hosts

Uncle Sam's U. S. Marines stationed at San Diego are genial men and genial hosts. The trip with the Gaels to San Diego was our first, and it was much nicer and more impressive than we had anticipated.

Because of former games with the Marines near the border line, Saint Mary's has made many friends. One of the lads, the boy who drove the Gaels around San Diego and Tijuana last year, ate and slept with the Saint Mary's squad this year.

Although he was not appointed to drive the Moragans this season, he was given permission to be with the team.

And this year's bus driver was just as genial and made the Saint Mary's sojourn in San Diego most pleasant.

These paragraphs wouldn't be complete without saying a word about the Marine band, one of the sweetest we have ever heard. Numbering more than 100 pieces, the band stood out by playing classical and popular selections in addition to marches. It is San Diego's most popular musical unit. You must hear it to appreciate it.

Three Saint Mary's sluggers who enter San Quentin Sunday, but merely for a ball game, are Gene Sullivan, Jack Flanagan and Bill Murphy. Flanagan will play his last game for the Gaels in the season's finale.

Dons Victorious Over Saints

Just when Dick Schuman's tennissers threatened to be carried into second place on the, wave of their strong conference finish, U. S. F. defeated them in an important match yesterday, 7-2, on the local courts.

Schuman participated in both of the Gaels' consoling wins, beating Lang of U. S. F., 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Harry Hooper teamed with the Gael captain to best Lang and Herbert, 6-3, and 6-4, in two straight sets in the doubles.

Six doubles and three singles were played.

Singles results yesterday:

PHOENIX ENTER QUENTIN SUNDAY

End Season By Meeting Prison Nine Across Bay

Opposing the Zebras of San Quentin, Earl Sheely's Phoenix will bring their 1937 season to a close next Sunday afternoon.

This evening at 4:30 in a twilight encounter, the Gaels will tussle with the Union Oilers at Rodeo. Saturday's proposed Hibernia Bank game is definitely cancelled.

The San Quentin lads take their baseball seriously and possess several stars who are holders of life-time contracts.

A special edition of the prison newspaper is put to press immediately following every Sunday's ball game, containing a special coverage of the day's contest.

Few of the best semi-pro clubs throughout Northern California have been able to beat the San Quentin tossers in the past few years. The San Quentin boys perhaps are well acquainted with the home grounds, not being a traveling organization.

The Zebras enjoy a particularly pleasing sensation when home runs are hit over the prison wall, whether they be recorded for or against the home team.

The Union tossers, to be met today, are members of the fast refinery league, composed principally of Contra Costa County oil company teams.

SUSTAINS INJURY IN ATHENS FRACAS

Wounded While Sliding Into Third Base

Gene Sullivan, colorful third sacker of the Phoenix, will undergo an operation this summer to remove a chipped bone in his right ankle.

Hurt in the second game with the Athens A. C. while sliding into third base, Sullivan never fully recovered from the injury, but he has alternated with Bob Morey at the hot corner.

Dr. E. R. Guinan examined the ankle yesterday and announced that an operation was necessary. Sullivan, ever since he has been able to walk without the aid of crutches, has walked with a bandaged and taped ankle.

Fast Times Expected In Track Meet

Faster times and better marks are expected by Coach Jimmy Underhill when class supremacy is proved next Friday in Saint Mary's annual Big Meet.

Underhill anticipates a better conditioned track than was available last year on Smith Oval.

Athletes who intend to represent their classes are requested to sign up as soon as possible. All events but the hurdles and pole vault are to be handled.

Toko Taira, a junior college transfer to Saint Mary's this year, is a dash man who possesses a powerful stride and should greatly aid sophomore chances in the meet.

The outstanding high school performances of Al Lingua, frosh baseball and football star, stamp him as a sure fire placer in Friday's meet.

Yearlings Win Two Games On Weekend

Saint Mary's yearling baseballers defeated the Petaluma High nine Saturday by a close 3 to 2 score. Frank Maderios, newly-found flinger, pitched a fine game, holding the strong high school outfit under control throughout the contest.

The pitchers duel was decided in the eighth inning when the Gaelets bunched a walk, a sacrifice, and a hit to score the winning run.

Last Sunday's tilt with Saint Patrick's C. Y. O. was a slugging match in which the first-year men easily won 10 to 2. Emmett O'Neill did the mound duties and also starred at bat. His long home run and Bill Spehar's slashing triple topped the batting honors.

PRO CONTRACT TO BE SIGNED SOON

Cases of Barsotti and Kelleher Are Similar

By Bill Bettencourt

Another chapter in the colorful baseball history of Saint Mary's College is about to be written, and it very much parallels the chapter that Francis Kelleher, considered the best piece of diamond timber to come out of the towering hills of Moraga during the past decade.

In April, 1936, Kelleher traveled with the Phoenix to Los Angeles to play a four-game series with the U. S. C. and U. C. L. A. nines. After the series, he returned to Moraga, but he immediately packed his belongings and quit college.

"I've signed a contract with the New York Yankees," he announced to his Moraga mates.

The scene changes, and it now is one year later, April, 1937.

The chapter differs a little—Babe Barsotti, star rightfielder of the Gaels, finds himself ineligible to play for Saint Mary's against either U. S. C. or U. C. L. A. However, he makes the trip with his mates to the Southland.

After the Los Angeles series, Barsotti, like Kelleher, announces he will sign a professional major league contract.

"I'm signing a contract within the next few days," averred Barsotti. "The club will be announced later."

Kelleher was a soph when he signed, having another year to complete before receiving his sheepskin.

Barsotti is a junior, also having two more semesters to complete.

This season the Gael star was hitting around the .300 mark. In addition to being a good sticker, Barsotti has a good wing and is considered to be a fast runner, which made him one of the most effective players on the team this year.

Jenkins' Home Run Wins From Aggies

Pulling the game out of the bag has been sadly lacking these last few months with the baseball team. However, Tuesday saw the Gaels winning a ten inning slug-fest 10 to 9 from the California Aggies by the timely homerun of Warren Jenkins.

The Phoenix had a three run lead early in the game but lost it because of errors. In the fifth inning the Aggies forged ahead by two runs only to have the fighting Phoenix tie it up. It was the tenth inning when Jenkins stepped up to the plate and cracked out the circuit blow to win the game.

4 GOLFERS IN TOURNEY

Smith, Benson, Dooms and Shine Play Today at Orinda

Shine Draws Automatic Win In First Round Of Play When Santa Clara's No. 1 Man Fails to Show Up

ORDINDA GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, April 23—Sixteen college golfers, the cream of the baffy crop from member schools of the California Intercollegiate Golf Association, set off on first-round matches over this classy, well-groomed course this morning, in pursuit of the coveted honors of winning the individual match play title in the association's first year venture.

Four players from each school will run through two rounds of match play today, the first round having begun at 9:00 o'clock this morning, the second round scheduled to begin at 1:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Saint Mary's hopes of a title rested on the shoulders of Bill Smith, Wally Benson, Bill Dooms, and Al Shine, with Smith and Benson two of the four odds-on favorites to sweep through the field of 16 starters.

Of the four Gaels only Shine was certain of playing in the second round this afternoon, when he drew an automatic victory, as a result of the failure of Jim Hutchinson, Santa Clara's No. 1 man, to show up. The importance of late mid-term examinations kept the Bronco ace from putting in an appearance.

Red-hot favorites in the tourney, along with Smith and Benson, are Bob McGlashen and Hogan of U. S. F., Jack Phelps of San Jose State, and a freshman "dark horse" entrant from San Francisco, Bill Gowan. McGlashen drew a bye in the first round from Santa Clara's No. 4 man, Kilkenny.

Should Benson win his first round match this morning, he will clash with McGlashen this afternoon in the only bad break of the otherwise perfect draw. The match is a toss-up, and picking a winner would be risky business. The victor in this match should reach one-half of the finals without much further trouble.

Third round matches start tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, which will narrow the field of four remaining this evening down to the two finalists, with the finals scheduled to be run off Monday, unless a San Jose player is one of the finalists, in which event the last 36-hole duel will be run off next Saturday.

Player Hurt

Robertson Sprains His Ankle In Final L. A. Game

Jim Robertson, who was put in the vacated rightfield spot in the Phoenix lineup during the absence of Babe Barsotti last week in Southern California, sustained a sprained left ankle in the final game with U. C. L. A., an x-ray by Dr. E. R. Guinan revealed yesterday.

Last Saturday Robertson departed from Los Angeles for Saint Mary's instead of traveling with his teammates to San Diego for the two-game series with the U. S. Marines. He reached the campus Sunday night and is walking with the aid of a cane. He must continue to do so for at least another week, Guinan said.

The Saint Mary's outfielder was chasing a high fly in the ninth inning when he sustained his hurt. With the sun blazing in his eyes and a wind carrying the ball, Robertson turned and slipped to the ground, either making too short a turn or tripping in a hole.

Greenlaw Fans 16 Bruins After Flanagan Whiffs 13

With Jack Flanagan and Cy Greenlaw coming through with the greatest Gael pitching shows of the season, Saint Mary's captured their final two conference games last Friday afternoon at Sawtelle field in beautiful Westwood Village of Los Angeles by scores of 4-2 and 7-2.

Cy Greenlaw, Earl Sheely's promising new menace to league batters, struck out the amazing number of 16 Bruins in the night-cap. In the first tilt, Flanagan wound up his college career by whiffing 13.

Greenlaw's record of 16 is belied to be unequalled in league competition and may be a new conference mark.

Behind the most effective pitching of these two twirlers, the Gaels had an easy time with Marty Krug's men Friday. In the first contest, U. C. L. A. took a 1 to 0 lead in the first, but the Gaels shot ahead in the third by scoring three runs and one more in the seventh. The Bruins tallied one more counter in the eighth, but that was all.

The Moragans touched Earl Sargeant and Baida for 10 hits, while Flanagan allowed six.

U. C. L. A. and Saint Mary's each scored one run in the second frame of the second game. One more in the fourth and five in the sixth proved too much for the Westwood nine, who tallied another run in the sixth.

Greenlaw allowed only four scattered safeties, while Billy Bob Williams and Baida were bumped for a total of eight bingles.

Sophomore Scores 59 Points In Campus League

Jerry Dowd, the major in the victories rolled up by "Bing" Crosby's sophomore intramural five in winning the Blue's division, was shown in a recent compilation of point totals to have recorded 59 tallies.

Dowd's mark gave him a one point margin over Warren Jenkins, who registered 58 for the Junior Blues, second place finishers.

Lew Baysinger of the Junior Reds followed with 49, Cantwell of the Soph Reds with 46, Daily of the Senior Reds with 42, and Deevy of the Soph Blues with 41.

Dowd participated in one more game than Jenkins, the latter's team failing to put in an appearance for their fifth scheduled contest when the sophs officially clinched the title.

Bill Beasley, former Gael football captain, returned to the campus this week to visit Coach Slip Madigan. Bill is now residing in Antioch.

Gaelet Gridders to Tackle 8 or 9 Opponents Next Fall

San Mateo J. C. Eleven Is First Foe For Coach Jimmy Underhill's New Yearling Gridiron Machine

Gathering together one of the most complete and well-rounded out yearling football schedules in many seasons, Graduate Manager Bill Smith last night announced the tentative 1937 Gaelet schedule.

The locals will open with San Mateo J. C. on either the 18th or the 25th of September, and end up with the traditional Bronco clash the day after the varsity clashes with Fordham in New York, November 21.

Sandwiched between these two tough opening and closing games will be either six or seven duels with other colleges, junior colleges, and state schools, to give a total of either eight or nine games on the frosh program.

Following the San Mateo gridiron ground-breaking ceremonies for the first-year Moragans there will follow on six successive weekends games with Marin, Sacramento, College of Pacific, University of San Francisco, Humboldt, and Salinas.

The tentative schedule follows:

Sept. 18 or 25: San Mateo J. C. at San Mateo.
Oct. 2: Marin J. C. at Kentfield.
Oct. 9: Sacramento J. C. at Sacramento.
Oct. 16: College of Pacific at Saint Mary's.
Oct. 24: University of San Francisco at Kezar.
Oct. 30: Humboldt State at Eureka.
Nov. 6: Salinas J. C. at Salinas.
Nov. 13: Open.
Nov. 21: Santa Clara at Kezar.

The Gaels finished the conference schedule with their games in the south.

Frosh Split

Lingua Hits Hard As O'Neill Allows Two Hits

Frosh tossers divided a pair of contests played on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, beating John Swett, 13-0, and losing to San Francisco Junior College, 12-7.

Jack Sims pitched a two hitter as the Gaelets, sparked by the heavy stickwork of Eddie Burns, Al Lingua, and Dante Andriatti, defeated the Crockett high school.

Lingua's work at the plate was particularly outstanding for he hit safely on four occasions.

Emmett O'Neill was bumped hard by the junior college aggregation, while Larson and Wilkus pitched winning ball for that club.

Gaels Win Two Tilts From Marines

Earl Sheely's varsity nine ended its invasion of Southern California by beating the San Diego Marines in a two-game series last Saturday and Sunday at San Diego, winning by scores of 12-8 and 11-10.

In the first game, the Gaels shoved three runs across the plate in the first, one in the second, two in the fourth, another two in the sixth, and four more in the seventh.

Sunday's game was knotted at 6-6 until the Gaels went on a scoring spree in the late stages of the game. The Marines almost tied the game in the last of the ninth, but they fell short by one marker.

Ray Cleone and Bud Merrill pitched the second game for the Moragans, while Bob O'Brien and Flip Jenkins worked Saturday's contest.

Campus Knights Will Entertain At Walnut Creek

Students Will Cooperate With Pastors of Local Parish In Program

Next Monday evening the campus council of the Knights of Columbus will cooperate with Father Louis Miller of Walnut Creek and Danville in a program featuring college talent, to be presented in the former city.

The program will include selections by Dick Vail's talented Glee Club, a vocal solo by James Brady, accordion solo by Carlo Dallosta, football-player maestro of the Junior class, recitation by Dan O'Hara, and a short talk by Dan Leary, deputy grand knight of the council.

The program has been arranged by William Dooms, lecturer for the Knights of Columbus.

Representative Chosen

In a special meeting of the council past grand knight Jack Fissori, grand knight Joe Alioto, and possibly Daniel Leary, were chosen to represent the local council in the state convention of Knights of Columbus to be held in Oakland April 15, 16 and 17.

Second degree initiation of new members will be held in Oakland May 12, to be followed May 15 by the third degree initiation of the same men in the CYO hall. The latter ceremony will be celebrated as part of the convention activities.

On SM Hour

Grand Knight-elect Victor Wilkiemeyer represented the council in the Saint Mary's hour last Monday on radio station KRE in an interview concerning the activities of the Knights on the campus.

The Knights' program for the coming year, as presented by Wilkiemeyer indicates the whole-hearted support of the Glee Club and Dramatic Society, together with the Saint Vincent de Paul in their proposed extension of catachism classes to include the children of Canyon. The retreat movement, an important function of the organization this year, will also be encouraged.

The final meeting of the council has been set at May 3.

Judges Announced For Examinations For Scholarships

Judges were announced this week for the five President's Scholarship Examinations to be given at five different points in the state tomorrow.

In San Francisco the judges will be W. J. Drew, principal of Mission High, W. J. "Dick" Fitzgerald, W. T. Van Voris, principal of Burlingame High school and Andrew R. Johnson. The examination will be held at Mission High and will be conducted by Mr. Drew, and Brother Raymond and Brother Edmund of Sacred Heart College.

At Fresno the examination will be held at Fresno Technical High school and will be conducted by Brother Bede Edward. The judges will be Doctor George H. Sciaroni, Chester Andrews and J. H. "Larry" Doyle.

C. C. Hughes, superintendent of city schools, G. C. Hamilton, Thomas P. Scollan and Frank E. Michel will be the judges of the Sacramento examinations. The examination will be given at Sutter Junior High school and will be conducted by Brother Josephus.

The examinations of the Oakland contestants will be judged by B. O. Wilson, superintendent of schools of Contra Costa county, Anthony F. Moiteret, of the Oakland Tribune, Gerald M. Lawlor, and Doctor Frank Shea. The examination will be held at Oakland Technical High school and will be conducted by Brother Eugene and Brother Maurice of Saint Mary's High school.

Art Director Gives Views On Landscape

"Taken as a whole, the landscape scene around the school is unusually good."

Brother Cornelius, art critic, made this comment in an interview last Wednesday. Becoming more specific, he added, "As an example, the dark yews in front of the chapel blend beautifully with their background."

Brother Cornelius seems to favor lawns and shrubs in preference to flower beds.

"The flowers appeal to my aesthetic sense, but they make such a poor showing when they fade, I think it would be better to devote most of the grounds to lawns and shrubs.

"In my opinion, it is a wise move to sow the field west of Galileo Hall in lawn. Some low lying shrubs would, I think, add to the effect."

Near the end of the interview, he bemoaned the fact that the running track was added to the campus facilities, as it seems to spoil the whole background.

"Nothing," he asserted, "should be allowed to interfere with the plans for making the entire appearance of the landscape accord with the surrounding hills."

Brick Pile Relic Placed On Campus

The forgotten corner stone of the old Saint Mary's, the historic "Brickpile" of Oakland has at last found its final resting place.

Salvaged by the California School of Arts and Crafts upon the destruction of the old building, the stone was removed to the present campus by Bernard Wills, school carpenter, in 1932. Since then it has lain neglected in a rubbish heap on the outskirts of the campus where attention was directed to it by Brother Leo in his column last semester.

The reference to the neglected remnant of the old structure in "Outlook and Insights" stirred for a time the imaginations of various campus societies, but no agreement could be made as to its removal to a spot of distinction on the campus, and nothing was done to remedy the situation.

The stone remained neglected until, under the direction of Reinhold Von Wetter, last week, it was removed to a position of honor. Its present location is at the north corner of the Scholasticate, where, its crosses freshly gleaming under a new coat of gilt, its two sections will remain permanently.

Traveling Debaters Conclude Long Tour

After completing the longest forensic tour in the history of Saint Mary's College, Carl Schuck and Joe Alioto returned to the campus on Wednesday, April 21. The tour has taken exactly one month, and during their travels the local team has met and debated against the cream of eastern and mid-western collegiate debate teams.

They began with a debate, broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company's coast-to-coast facilities, with Fordham University. This radio debate received favorable criticism from all parts of the country. The local office is in receipt of several requests for a copy of the speeches used by Alioto and Schuck, one of them being from Pomona college.

On the following Tuesday they defeated Abel Tannenbaum and Sammy Cohen of New York University, with a unanimous decision going to Saint Mary's team. Following this they swung down the Atlantic Coast to a win over Catholic University of Washington, D. C. Retracing their steps westward they met and debated against the University of Pennsylvania and then Notre Dame. While in New York City Alioto and Schuck sat with the city judges on the bench and also had an audience with Mayor LaGuardia.

SHAGGY MONSTER CAPTURED!

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

Valley residents breathed easier when it was learned that Shag-Shag the Monster, who has been terrorizing the citizenry for the past three months, had at last been captured. Old Shag, or as he is more commonly known, Karl Orth, was finally brought to justice after a furious chase by several mounted minions of the law.

Not since the fire of '06 has any event caused such furor as the seizure of this Monster. He is seen above making little ones out of big ones, watched by several armed guards who are not seen in the picture.

Questioned as to whether the act was a publicity stunt, the so-called tackle, who, according to reputable sources on the campus, is lacking in leg-drive, definitely stated: "This is not publicity, it is DAMNABLE NOTORIETY, unbefitting a man in my station in life."

This is the first offense of Old Shag and his friends and admirers feel sure that he will overcome his evil ways.

Senior Sketches

By JACK BARKER

What will become of the "intellectuals" now that their leader is departing? Top honor student, editor of the "Brickpile," ex-Bystander, and uncrowned king of the "Brain-trust" —such is Frank Martin. As a recognized leader, Frank epitomizes to the highest degree,, the cultural aspects of a college education. Always modest, he will be the first to deny such a statement, and to belittle what we are about to say. But he cannot belittle what he has done for Saint Mary's. His tireless efforts have brought much good, and even in his modesty, he should be able to recognize the fact.

Frank Martin

Evidence of his leanings may be found in his academic record. Throughout four years of scholastic endeavor, he has never at any time fallen below a "B" in any subject; his name may always be found at the top of the first honor roll. No record of any other senior can approach the modest and retiring San Franciscan's.

Big City Boy

Mr. Martin, (notice our deference towards scholastic attainment), first grappled with the complexities of this sordid world in the beauteous burg of Santa Cruz. Moving with his family to San Francisco, also a beauteous burg, Frank took up his abode and started preparing for greater things to come. In the fair City of Saint Francis he attended the little red school house known to the natives of the vicinity as Lowell High School. He graduated with customary laurels and immediately hied himself to the valley of the Moragas. Since then, his conduct has been scandalous, to say the least. By a process of hard work and brilliant ability, he has achieved the enviable reputation of a "good example," or walking success story. And why not—he was!

Editor

Realizing the importance of choosing a capable man for this position, knowing the ability that this position would require, the Executive Council was unanimous in their selection of Frank Martin as the man to build the Brick Pile. He is probably best known to most of us in this latter capacity. Under his guidance the Brick Pile flourished. The result of his direction and leadership was hailed on many sides as one of the best college magazines on the Pacific Coast. He has set standards that future editors may be unable to attain, but in striving to that end, they at least will put out a very fine magazine.

Intelligentsia

Always he has been known as a member of the Saint Mary's intelligentsia, and has been considered as a "shining example" of academic perfection. Frank Martin is slated for a Maxima Cum Laude. This last sentence is a fitting climax to both a college education and this minute bit of collegiate history. To you, Frank Martin, congratulations on the perfect attainment of an end.

Fitzgerald Elected President By Frosh

Scoring a decisive victory over the frosh non-resident students, resident students won every office in the elections for Sophomore officers for the coming year, held Thursday in Dante Hall.

Included among the officers elected were: Bill Fitzgerald, president; Alex Latuda, vice president; Noel McDermott, secretary; Edward Carroll, treasurer; Peter Sedar, sargeant at arms; and Tom Feeney, Pete LoBianco and Bill Spehar, Executive Council.

OFFICE OF THE RECORDER

Examination for the Philosophy Medal will take place on Thursday, April 29. The exam will be conducted by Dr. Hagerty, Dean of the School of Arts and Letters, and is open only to Seniors.

All graduating seniors must take an examination on the Constitution of the United States, except those who have taken History 123.

The examination will be given on Thursday, April 29, at 8:00 A. M. Honor students are not excepted from taking the examination.

Owing to the fact that the Forty Hours Devotions will open at 8:00 A. M. on Wednesday, the regular 8:00 o'clock period will be in session at 11:00 A. M.

The Comprehensvie Examination for Seniors majoring in English will be given on Tuesday and Thursday, April 27 and 29, from 9:00 A. M. to 12:00 noon in D 201.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . of . . . SCIENCE

By BILL GLACKIN

BUGS

The Cretaceous period, which ranges approximately (no two geologists ever agreed on anything) from 55 to 120 million years ago, was the time when the last of the giant dinosaurs roamed the earth. For a long time scientists have agreed that it was only natural that the air must have swarmed with insects during that period, but until a fossil find made last week they couldn't prove it.

The discovery consists only of two lone fossil bugs, but even one of them would have been more than highly prized by fossil men; reason: the bugs—a giant leaf hopper and a remote ancestor of the present day squash bug—were from the mysterious Cretaceous period, which makes them about a hundred million years old.

All of which might be of interest to local geologists. Especially —paging Cowboy Benson—since they were found in Colorado.

X-RAYS AND CANCER

It's no news that cancer can be cured in some cases and materially helped in many others by the use of X-rays. And up until last week the doctors thought they had a pretty good idea of how the X-rays act on cancer cells to make them disintegrate and die.

That, however, is not the whole story. Drs. Perry J. Melnick and Albert Bachem of Chicago have just completed research on the subject which shows that cancer cells are, in many cases, killed by X-rays in a novel and unsuspected way.

What the rays do is simply turn the cells into stone, as it were; they turn them into abnormal cells which have calcified or stony nuclei. This process, known to science as mutation, has been known for some time as the effect X-rays have on some plants and animals, but its importance in regard to cancer has hitherto been unsuspected.

Large single doses of X-rays do not produce this effect; it is only when the treatment consists of small repeated doses that the cancer cells undergo this curious calcification of nuclei.

LOCAL STUFF

Accustomed as we are to giving you the latest medical discoveries of Dr. Whoosis of Peoria College, or of Professor Brain of the Bureau of Health, it is with pleasure that we this week turn to a medical discovery right here on our own campus: the skin cure of Professor Tomer.

Random Facts: The compound is best used as a solution in alcohol; for some reason, the salve form is not as good. It can also be dissolved in carbon disulphide. Anybody who has ever smelled carbon disulphide will known why that is definitely not to be preferred.

It seems to act with a rapidity like to that of no other skin cure yet discovered. There was a student here who had a terrifically bad case of athlete's foot. One treatment, and in a little over a day all the rough sores were gone, leaving only little cracks in the skin. Another application, and even these were gone, leaving the skin normal again.

That was four weks ago. There has been no recurrence of the disease. Maybe they've got something there.

Mills Debaters To Appear Here

Locals To Meet Visitors On Wednesday, April 28

start today, when a freshman team of Phil Kearney and Joe Potstada will travel to the University of Santa Clara where they will defend the negative of the question, Resolved: That Congress Should be Empowered to Fix Minimum Wages and Maximum Hours for Industry. This will also mark the first freshman debate for the current semester.

Then, on Tuesday, April 27th, Eugene Adams and Kevin Twohy of Santa Clara will defend the affirmative of the same question on the Saint Mary's campus against Sullivan and Kirkham.

The "Little Big" Foch debate between Saint Mary's and Santa Clara, sponsored by the Alliance Francais, is looming in the near future. The date for this will be set pending the decision of debate president Carl Schuck upon his return from the eastern tour.

On Thursday, April 29th, the second off-campus Stanford debate will be held, on the question, "Resolved: That Democracy Will Survive Here in the United States." This will be a mixed freshman-sophomore encounter and the question will be affirmatively upheld by Leonard Hodges and Richard Hilken. The debate will be at Palo Alto.

Block SM Dance To Be Held On Campus On Saturday, May 8

According to president Vic Strub plans have almost been completed for the annual Block SM dance to be held in Madigan Gymnasium Saturday night, May 8. Originally only 200 bids were printed but because of the good advance sale it was necessary to print 100 more. "If this is any indication of the crowd to be on hand," stated president Strub, "we will have no worry about the financial end of this dance."

John Giannoni, in charge of the music, has auditionesd four bands to date and from these he expects to make his choice. "All of them were good," Giannoni stated, "but we want this dance to be 100 percent and so we are taking our time in making the selection of the orchestra because we realize only too well the necessity of a good orchestra."

Advertising is being handled by Lou Ferry and Gene McSweeney. It is expected that the early part of next week will find the local papers carrying announcements of the dance to East Bay readers. And according to these two members the local newspapers have agreed to donate their share of publicity in order to put the dance over. Posters have been placed around the Valley and a large crowd of outsiders is expected to attend. Cards announcing the dance have been sent to the alumni and friends of he college.

The decorations committee, headed by Paul Barnes announces that a new scheme will be attempted this year, and vouches for its appearance.

Press Convention Plans Completed; Many To Attend

Later on in the day the various speakers from the daily papers will talk to the journalism students on the different phases of work on a metropolitan paper.

Concluding the days activities a general assembly will be held, at which the awards for the outstanding publications in the different classifications will be made. Papers and annuals will be judged on the basis of editing and appearance.

Many Awards Given

High schools wishing to compete for the various trophies are requested to submit five issues, or any number representative of the year's work. All papers must be submitted before Wednesday, May 5.

The trophies to be awarded are the A. L. Flanagan trophy for the outstanding paper published by a boy's high school, the Collegian plaque for the runner-up in the boy's division, the L. G. Balfour trophy for the best girl's high school publication, the James G. Gillick trophy going to the girls' high school awarded second place.

Entries Received

According to Ken Coveney, publicity director for the convention, replies to invitations have been received from Saint Mary's High School of Berkeley, Holy Names High School of Oakland, and Saint Francis de Sales High School of Watsonville.

Arrangements are being made to accomodate at least 150 student editors, and members of the Gael and Collegian have been assigned specific tasks so that the scheduled events of the day will be completed in time to allow the visitors to leave the campus on the 4:30 train.

Alumni Will Invite Seniors To Dinner

has been the custom throughout the years for a member of the Association to sponsor one of the graduates by inviting him to be his guest at dinner, to introduce him to the other members of the alumni and to make him feel at ease as one of the newest members of the group."

The program for the evening has not been definitely decided upon, but the schedule for the evening will include talks by prominent members of the alumni, in addition to an address of welcome by one of the alumni group, and a speech of acceptance by a graduate of the class of 1937.

Chairman of the committee arranging the program for the evening will be J. Giles Miller, '18. He will be assisted by a committee composed of men prominent in alumni affairs.

Former Editor Will Get Journalism Post

Former associate editor of The Collegian, Edmund Moss, '32, will occupy the chair of journalism during the coming year at Saint Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park, California, announces the April issue of The Patrician, the Seminary publication.

Moss is remembered on the campus as the editor of the Gael, and is responsible to a great degree, for its survival. To graduate from the Seminary in the class of 1938, Moss has distinguished himself as Vice-President of the Mission Society in charge of educational activities, and each year, during the summer months, by conducting vacation schools in the Reno Diocese.

ANNUAL DINNER

Extensive plans are now being made by the Association for the next social affair which will be the annual dinner for the graduates of the class of '37.

At the last meeting of the Board of Directors, which was held at the Maison-Paul Grill in San Francisco on Tuesday, April 13, a committee was appointed to make arrangements for this traditional event.

This dinner, which has become a tradition, has for its purpose the welcoming into the Association the members of the graduating class of the college. It has been the custom, which will again be followed this year, for the graduates of fifty years ago to act as hosts to the graduates of the present year, and on this occasion, the members of the Class of 1887 will extend a welcoming hand to the class of 1937.

The committee, under the chairmanship of J. Giles Miller, '18, has announced the date of the dinner as Thursday evening, May 13. The location has not yet been selected but several hotels and clubs are under consideration and it is expected that a definite choice will be announced in the next issue.

The committee wishes to solicit the cooperation of every member of the Association in an effort to make this the most successful Annual Dinner ever held. It has been the custom throughout the years for a member of the Association to sponsor one of the graduates by inviting him to be his guest at the dinner, to introduce him to the other members of the alumni and to make him feel at ease as one of the newest members of the group.

Any member wishing to so sponsor a graduate should communicate immediately with the Executive Secretary, C. Wesley Davis, 941 Monadnock Bldg., Sutter 3321.

If you have a friend among the graduates or some particular student whom you wish to invite, it would be well to make your arrangements early as the invitations are assigned in the order in which they are received.

The committee, with J. Giles Miller, '18, as chairman, is as follows: James C. O'Donnell, Herman A. Scholten, Wm. R. Lowery, Justin Mahoney, Eugene Riordan, James L. Hagerty, A. T. Shine, R. F. Mogan, Victor Olcese, Walter H. Sullivan, Garrett McEnerny, George McKeaver, Wm. J. Fitzgerald, Leo A. Cunningham, Sylvester Andriano, William Burke, Louis De Avila, Frank Atwill, Ray Chandler, Joseph Millett, Edward Cone, Frank Trigeior, Francis P. Healey, Clifford Russell, Wm. Feneran, Walter Minogue, Eugene Boyle, Andrew F. Burke, Raymond Arata, Edward T. Hogan, Philip D. Quittman, Edward McSweeney.

OPEN HOUSE DAY

C. Wesley Davis, Executive Secretary, wishes all those members who will have an automobile available on Sunday, May 9, to communicate with him at 941 Monadnock Building, Sutter 3321. That day will be open house upon the campus and several automobiles are required to transport guests about the grounds.

President Climaxes Good-Will Campaign

Climaxing a long campaign, Brother Albert, president of the college, will close the good-will tour with a brief visit to Los Angeles.

Leaving here on Wednesday, the president will spend most of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the southern city. He will return here on Sunday.

While in Los Angeles, Brother Albert, accompanied by "Slip" Madigan, will attend a special meeting of the alumni members at the Biltmore Hotel on Wednesday evening. Friday the president will be present at another meeting of alumni and supporters of the college in the Los Angeles metropolitan area.

Last week the president concluded the campaign in the valley area by visiting in Fresno, where he contacted alumni and Gael supporters. A few days before the campaign in Northern California was culminated by a short sojourn in Sacramento.

Professor Gives Views On Strikes

"Cronin, in his book of ethics, states that in aiming to prevent others from taking their jobs, workers may use only means of moral persuasion and never threats or violence. He says that only means in themselves lawful may be utilized in the conduct of a strike, and that strikers must not interfere with the employer in his person or property.

"If we accept these statements, then clearly the sit-down strike must be branded as immoral," the local professor added.

Labor Is Defended

Switching from the authors who hold that there is absolutely no justification for the sit-down strike, Brother Alfred proceeds to take several statements from the writing of Monsignor Ryan, who takes a different stand on the question.

Father Ryan, writing in the Ecclesiastical Review for April, 1937, states that "the sit-down strike is essentially the same as that variety of picketing which uses force and violence. In both cases physical force is used to interefere with the employer's operation of his property."

So far, there is agreement. But then, in contradistinction to previous writers, he arrives at the conclusion that "employes, as such, have certain natural rights and that these rights may be defended by 'coercion' for the defense of any other natural rights."

Force Rarely Justifiable

However, Father Ryan adds that the good effects to be obtained thru violence are practically never sufficient to outweigh the evil effects; for the benefits that labor would thus secure are insignificant compared with the social disorder and anarchy through which they would be obtained."

Brother Alfred summed up Monsignor Ryan's statements by saying, "In other words he gives the old, familiar and somewhat humorous answer: Theoretically, yes; practically, no."

In conclusion Brother Alfred said: "Abscinding from the statements of other than the authorities quoted, it would seem that the encouragement to unlawful interference with property rights, the occasion of sabotage (only too well used in many cases) the frank lawlessness entailed, the bad name given to the cause of labor, the sense of outrage produced in the employer, and the ease with which the practice can be abused by a small minority without the consent or even against the will of the majority, are sufficient to rule this method out in any civilized country."

statement from the Terrier candidate this week.

"Postmaster Jim"

It is also rumored that the position of Postmaster will be held out on a silver platter to Leo Englert, if the Irish party is successful. Numerous candlelight meetings were held by this party in making its final choices for nominees and principles, the most bitter fight being between Jim Brady and Jack Reilley for the vice-presidential nomination.

Nominations April 28

Nearing the nomination on April 28, a new date, feeling is rampant on the campus. All four classes are taking sides in what promises to be the most bitterly fought election ever seen here. The combination of a new and popular party, the "progressive" Bourne, and the conservative Mana add up to what promises to be a sensational election on May 5.

celebrated at 6:30 and the same schedule as Wednesday will be in effect.

On Friday there will be a general Communion Mass at 8 o'clock. All students are to report to their religion or ethics classes and thence go to the Chapel for the Solemn closing of the Devotions. Besides the Clergy and acolytes, a guard of honor, consisting of ten students from each class will take part in the Procession of the Blessed Sacrament around the Chapel, Father Bowling said. The Devotions will then close with the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Student Deputization Committee Date Given

Dates of talks to be given by members of the Student Deputization Committee were announced by the office of the president yesterday.

On April 28 Marty Kordick and Victor Strub will speak at the Hayward Union High School. May 4, Joe L. Alioto, student body president, and Lou Ferry, will speak at Richmond High School. A week later, on May 11, Alioto and Ned O'Laughlin will address the students of University High in Oakland.

Saint Mary's Club

BIG BROTHER GAME—Sunday, April 25, marks the fourth consecutive year St. Mary's Club members will have visited the campus for a preview of the Galloping Gaels on the windup of Spring practice.

The idea or the inspiration for the unique contest was borrowed from the traditional "Monogram game" that ends spring practice at Notre Dame. There the varsity teams are divided into two squads; for example, two first string tackles are split—one going to the assistant coach, and the other to the head coach—resulting in two teams, evenly divided regarding their individual ability, all of which makes for an interesting contest. The teams play for keeps!

Last year, in casting about for a name for the contest that will be played for the second time Sunday, Frank Schmid hit on "BIG BROTHER GAME." The idea behind it—Big Brother Football aids minor (Little Brother) sports—in this instance, track and field sports.

Charles J. Barry, president, and Wm. R. (Billy) Cruickshank, chairman, are handling the details of Sunday's campus day. Working with them on the committee are Henry J. Maritzen, Michael V. Mulcahy, of the Contra Costa County unit, Emmett Dillon, Thomas Kennedy, and Joseph Kenny, who, incidentally, was voted the best dressed man at Slip's anniversary party.

Sacramento Northern trains will leave on regular schedule. There will be no special trains, so in order to be on hand for the kick-off it will be necessary to take the 10:40 a.m. at Key Route Ferry in San Francisco, or the 11:10 from 40th and Shafter streets in Oakland. In not scheduling special trains, the Committee feels the majority of those who will attend will want to go by auto. The time from San Francisco to Moraga is just about one hour via Bay Bridge. For those leaving from San Francisco via Bay Bridge take the Berkeley approach, and turn right to Ashby avenue. Stay on Ashby to Claremont Boulevard, turn left and continue over the hill to Moraga.

Admission for the game 40c for adults; 10c for children.

Game set for 2:30 p.m.

GAME WILL START PROMPTLY 2:30 P.M.

For those traveling by train the schedules are as follows:

Leave Key System Ferry, San Francisco, 10:40 A. M. or 2:00 P. M.

Leave 40th and Shafter, Oakland, 11:10 A. M. or 2:30 P. M.

Return trains leave St. Mary's College, 4:33 P. M. and 6:53 P. M.

ROUND TRIP FARES

From San Francisco—Adults 75c; children 40c.

From 40th and Shafter—Adults 50c; children 25c.

Motorists may make their own schedules and will find well paved highways all the way to the college with ample parking space on the campus close by to the playing field.

Freshman Magazine To Be Printed Soon

At a meeting called for the purpose last Monday evening, the staff of the freshman annual set May 3 as the publication date for the chronicle.

The meeting was called as a result of numerous inquiries by freshmen and upperclassmen as to the time the magazine was to appear. Publication had been slowed up by many technical difficulties and also by lack of interest among members of the staff and lack of adequate organization,

Publication was originally set for the end of March. A fairly lengthy series of articles was planned. Now, with the approach of final examinations, it appears that the length of the publication will be drastically curtailed, to allow staff members proper time for preparation.

Having decided at Monday's meeting definitely that they would put out the annual, however, the staff promises to make it of high quality. The abbreviated magazine will contain between fifteen and twenty pages of mimeographed literature.

The name will not be disclosed until the publication date.

Tools Donated

Brother Patrick, chairman of Clean-Up Day, announced this week that tools have been made available through the cooperation of Supervisor Cummings of Contra Costa County, the Sacramento Northern, the Southern Pacific, and the Santa Fe railroads.

Improvement of Grounds

The work will be similar to that accomplished last year, namely the improvement of the campus grounds by the removal of weeds and debris in locations not yet reached by Von Wetter's regular experienced crew of pick and shovel men.

Days Combined

The event will be the first in which both Clean-Up Day and President's Day have been incorporated, two different dates having been observed in previous years.

New Books Are Given To College Library

Several new donations of books to the college library have been made during the past week, according to Brother Clement, college librarian.

Most important donation was a group of 21 books on various subjects. made by a Miss Rose Kelly of San Francisco. The lady sent the books to Brother Leo, to whom her identity is unknown. He in turn gave them to the library.

The Knights of Columbus also made a donation this week of eight new books to be added to the Brother Gregory memorial library.

President's Day

PRESIDENT'S Day and Clean-Up Day, as separate dates, have always been looked forward to with much anticipation. Always successful on this campus, those two days have held student interest more than any others. This year, with the combination of the two into one event, student interest should, and probably will be, unusually high.

Their success depends upon that student interest and the cooperation of each and every student. There is much to be accomplished. A complete and varied program has been arranged, not without considerable effort on the part of those in charge. At the luncheon will be several speakers from the college and from other institutions. That portion of the day is definitely a success as it stands. The rest must be done by the students.

Clean-Up Day has in the past received wholehearted cooperation on the part of the students, and with the students, to a great extent, lies its success. Since Brother Albert and the faculty have done so much toward making the day one to be remembered, it is up to the students to do their part. There never has been any hesitancy about giving cooperation—there should be that same spirit this year.

On Monday, April 26, therefore, it is up to us to see that our part in the program will be accomplished as well as the rest of the day. Cooperation should be the keynote of the day.

Saint Vincent de Paul

IT IS often easy to overlook organizations that do a great deal of work, charitable work, and yet never seek publicity. Such an organization is the Saint Vincent de Paul Society. Dedicated to the purpose of aiding the less fortunate, to teaching the faith, and to works of charity, the Vincentians do a greater work than many of our more publicized groups.

Few on this campus know, for instance, that the Society teaches cathechism to the children in the valley, that they contribute to the support of Saint Patrick's shelter in San Francisco by sending, several times a year, old clothes, papers and various odds and ends which they themselves have collected; that they have a visiting committee which goes about searching for families to aid, spiritually or materially; that they are always willing to aid any who are in need. These things are not known because the Society founded by Saint Vincent de Paul does not wish it to be publicized. But when so much good is done, it is difficult to ignore the facts.

We heartily congratulate, therefore, this charitable and worthwhile organization and wish them well in the year to come. They have done well in the past and have brought much credit to the College. It is hoped that this will continue. In order that it may, the whole-hearted support of the students should be given. Those who wish to serve their Church are given the opportunity to do so through this organization. With the graduation of many seniors, there will be several vacancies in the ranks of this group. Students should take advantage of the opportunity offered and join in the work of the Vincentians. In so doing they will not only be serving one of the finest and worthiest groups on the campus, but also they will be participating in a far greater service: the service to God and the Church.

THERE is no vice which mankind carries to such wild extremes as that of avarice.
—Swift.

The Senior Ball

TOMORROW night in San Francisco's Sir Francis Drake Hotel the senior class will bring to a grand close their college social affairs with the annual Senior Ball. Since the dance will be their last social event and one of the last activities of this year's graduating class, the entire group has expended a great deal of time and effort in order to make the affair a fitting climax to the many succesful dances the class has sponsored during its members' four year stay on the local campus.

The entire senior class has been working as a unit on this dance. but the men know that tomorrow night's affair will not be the success that it should be if the other classes do not rally to its support. So far the whole student body has responded very well, but many more students than have already signified their intentions of attending are expected to be present at this outstanding class dance of the year. We know that it will be outstanding as the Senior Balls of the past have been and this one will be no exception.

All of the fine features planned for the dance have been so arranged so that they will be to the absolute liking of everybody attending. One of the finest orchestras in the region has been secured and even the time has been altered so to meet with the requests of the campus socialites. Everything possible has been done to make the dance tomorrow night an enjoyable one for every student and friend of the college, so let's have every student do his part and support the affair.

Saint Mary's Club Day

SAINT MARY'S once more plays host to the Saint Mary's club. This Sunday thousands of the friends of the college will gather on the campus for a day replete with pleasure and entertainment. It is an occasion which has grown to be an outstanding annual event.

Saint Mary's owes much to these men, who though they have no official connection with the college, have done so much for its betterment. It is a debt which cannot be repaid by mere words and phrases. They are powerless to express the regard which the students, alumnae, and faculty have for the Saint Mary's club.

It is understandable when the students or the men who have graduated from an institution endeavor to further its welfare with all the means at their command, but it surpasses the ordinary when men who have no intimate connection with it band together for the same purpose. The men of the Saint Mary's club have proved themselves to be real friends of the college, giving moral and financial support when they were most needed. But it is not alone because of their generous assistance that the college regards them as one of its own. They are part of the fold because they stand for the same things which make Saint Mary's College what it is.

Moraga Musings

We reprint this from "Hilltop Echoes" in the USF Foghorn for April 16:

"Tea-sipping Dons. Tonite our "roamantic" Dons will journey across to Dominican where they shall be the honored guests from 6 to 10 p. m. . . .Remember that only last week they entertained the "heavyweighted" Moragans . . .so step lightly and keep your feet on the floor . . ."

And maybe you'll be asked again.

Junior James Walsh is going to get a job next summer and earn enough money to take a hair-growing treatment.

Carl Schuck and Joe Alioto have been on a debate tour.

Leo "Society" Englert has ambitions to be a political boss.

Dante Magnani is the staunchest supporter for the Italian Tradition of Culture on the campus.

Cecil Reid, freshman, will go home to Australia this summer. He'll be spending most of his time travelling.

Carl Sampson of the same class holds all speed records among the yearlings. Karl Orth, "200 punds of tackle" will give him good competition.

Samuel Shapiro is known as the brain trust of Augustine Hall.

OUTLOOKS & INSIGHTS

By BROTHER LEO

WITH THE CHICKENS

Thomas a Kempis, though a monk and a saintly one, felt obliged to confess that even in the routine of his long life at Mount St. Agnes and his almost complete separation from the outside world, he often sought for peace and sought in vain. Nowhere did he find it save "in little nooks with little books." Brother Thomas, it would appear had soul storms even in the chapel; but in a quiet corner with a favorite volume he tasted the sweets of solitude.

Brother Leo

A distinguished poet and diplomat of our own day, M. Paul Claudel, from a different field of experience reaps the same conclusion. In one of his "Letters to a Doubter" he explained how he fled from the madding crowd:

"I am writing this in a barn where I have taken refuge to escape from the turmoil of a little house full of callers. Here, every morning, the hens and I keep one another company. They brood over their eggs; I brood over my manuscript."

We know that the suave twentieth-century Frenchman is not a misanthrope, that he derives both comfort and inspiration from human intercourse; but because he is a thinker, a "brooder," a creative artist, he knows the need of long periods of solitude. Especially he knows the deep delight and vibrant peace that comes from the habit of solitary musing.

The joys of solitude constitute the hundredfold reward promised to those who in one path or another —as saints, as artists, as thinkers —follow Christ. There would be more saints, artists and thinkers if more men and women realized the wisdom and the satisfaction of withdrawing periodically from the world and its ways. "The Lord is not in the wind, the Lord is not in the tempest."

We Americans can find solitude, even if we have to go to bed for it. I know two successful and typical citizens, a merchant and an architect, who several evenings a week nominally retire shortly after dinner and spend several hours communing with their bedside books. Perhaps that is why they are such excellent company at stag parties.

IN "WHO'S WHO"

Plenty of publications, educational and otherwise, make a good profit by bringing out volumes of so-called celebrities, the men and women thus honored cheerfully paying a few dollars each for a copy of the book. Sometimes they pay considerably more for the privilege of appearing among the supposed leaders.

One book, however, is different. You don't secure inclusion in you do something or are something. You don't pay for the distinction. You don't have to buy a copy of the book. The publishers have rigorously held to a high standard. The result is that "Who's Who" shows who's who in every department of American life.

Princeton University has over five hundred of its 18,000 graduates in "Who's Who." Every Princeton class, from 1872 to 1929, has at least one member in "Who's Who." The Class of 1894 has twenty-eight members so distinguished; the Class of 1909 has twenty-four. On a percentage basis, the Class of 1886 has produced the largest proportion of prominent men, thirty per cent of its membership having secured inclusion in "Who's Who."

Of the present community of Princeton, with a population of 9,000, 166 men are in "Who's Who." So, what?

Thought for the Week

"The truth is, we die through our ancestors; we are murdered by our ancestors. Their dead hands stretch forth from the tomb and drag us down to the mouldering bones." —Richard Jeffries, cheerful English writer of a hundred years ago.

"We have too clerical a point of view in this country," thinks Gordon O'Neill, editor of The Monitor.

The Bystander

By JACK REILLEY

THE SOUND AND FURY

It's election time in the valley. Politics once again raises its ugly head to disturb the peaceful quiet of the little academic city. Mysterious rumors, double dealing, and the knife in the back once more becomes the fashion.

The whips, those shadowy and enigmatic shapers of political destiny, have in the last few weeks been rallying their organisations and instructing their Trilbys for the big push. As yet only the faint sound of the tom-toms can be discerned, but next week the campaign will be in full swing.

Then the valley will reverberate with sound of promises, charges and counter-charges. The standard bearers will "point with pride and view with alarm." All the old chestnuts will be dug out of the moth balls and presented as new, revolutionary policies. Whereas, the only thing revolutionary about it would be if they were ever put into practice. But like the iceberg only a third of the real activity appears on the surface, for underneath all these outward manifestations will occur the conniving and devious machinations of the bosses.

It might be wise at this point to issue a warning to all students who have not as yet become entangled in the web of politics, either as a prospective candidate or as a member of one of the various organisations, to be on guard during the following weeks. If anybody approaches you with a toothy smile, outstreched hand, and calls you either by your first name or by some affectionate term such as "Pal," "Kid," etc., run, don't walk to the nearest exit. He'll be a political hopeful, or what is worse one of his supporters, intent on controlling your vote. In fact it is safe to say that within the next two weeks the word "pal' will be used as it never has before.

These are the days that try men's souls. Under the stress and excitement of the conflict, friendships will be strained, and former intimates view each other with cold and hostile eye. Everyone is vitally interested in the elections; the question who is to fill the student body offices is viewed as one of extreme importance; by the end of the semester everyone but the office holders will have forgotten who won them.

Dante is "the greatest man who ever yet, upon this earth, has set pen to paper," according to the eminent dramatic critic, Clayton Hamilton, writing in the Saturday Review of Literature.

WHAT THEY THINK

The High Hat lets us in on an interesting point of view: "I adore men. They are so convenient, inexpensive, and easy to feed. They love to eat the cake you forgot to put the baking powder in—that is, if you are diplomatic enough. They have commodious pockets for storing lipsticks, cosmetics, and evening bacgs. The big ones seem to be preferred stock, but the little ones are terribly handy for climbing into pantry windows when you have forgotten your house key. The most attractive ones are definite assets to a girl's personal appearance. Although she can't wear them as she would a dress, she can always take them along as she would an umbrella. They are always nice to send into a dark room first, because having awfully tender shins, you can tell by their muffled (no nice man swears) exclamations where the furniture is." And that's what she thinks of you, fellow, and you swallow everything until you take the Great Step and then are your eyes opened!

PRESTIGE

We don't know why it is, but a senior has got something that makes things stop, look and listen. For instance, the Alabamian, tells us, "A senior stood on the railroad track. The train was coming fast. The train got off the railroad track and let the senior pass."

NOT FEMININE

The University of Washington doesn't know whether to take it all as a compliment or an insult, but they're puzzling their heads about the recent statement of Frances Farmer, movie actress, and one of their grads.

A college education, says the acress, robs a woman of her capacity to live. Elucidating, Miss Farmer declared a girl is fairly normal when she enters college, but the strain of trying to meet each problem rationally and intelligently is too great for her. "Women live on emotion," said Miss Farmer, "and when that is taken from them by too much introspective thinking, they're not feminine any more." We think UW should take it as a compliment for evidently they've taught Miss Farmer to think pretty straight—though we're not entirely against women going to college—it is rather an obvious fact that a lot of them attending college today would be better off raising babies or helping the old man feed the family.

SILLY STUFF

Two day students we overheard:

"Say, I went by your home last night."

"Why didn't you come in?"

"I didn't know where you lived."

"I saw you pass by."

"Why didn't you ask me in?"

"I didn't know it was you."

—And we'd better stop before you go goofy, too.
